Writing Research Papers

Important things we must learn before starting to write research papers are: how to select topics of a research, how to find out that selected topic is not duplicated with others, whether or not your advisor will approve of the topic, and where we can find information and references.

We begin with these databases.

- Proquest Dissertations & Theses is introduced here as a good source for searching research topics as the database provides the world's most comprehensive collection of dissertations and theses from around the world, spanning from 1743 to the present day and offering full text for graduate works added since 1997, along with selected full text for works written prior to 1997.
- Web of Science provides researchers, administrators, faculty, and students with quick, powerful access to the world's leading citation databases. Authoritative, multidisciplinary content covers over 10,000 of the highest impact journals worldwide, including open access journals and over 110,000 conference proceedings. You'll find current and retrospective coverage in the sciences, social sciences, arts, and humanities, with coverage available to 1900.
- American Chemical Society journal of the publications division of the American Chemical Society provides the worldwide scientific community with a comprehensive collection of the most-cited, peer-reviewed journals in the chemical and related sciences. ACS publications publish more than 40 journals, chemical & engineering news, ACS legacy archives, and the ACS symposium series via its award-winning web-based platform. ACS journals are #1 in citations or impact factor in the seven chemistry categories as well as nine additional categories.

"We then need to be sure that the style of composing the information gathered and result from conducted research project from the lab – in acceptable format of the institute. And, we must check the information to avoid plagiarism or not violating others' works"

CGI learning center acquired a number of manuals including language tutorials for English writing and reading for foreigners. These books give us the examples and explanations for improving our language usage.

Citation workshops

Citation workshops are organized occasionally and on request to share knowledge on how to properly write our references and notes. These workshops presented hands on practice along with searching the database such as ISI web of science which provides EndNote Web for our convenience.

Please also be careful to read the copyright instruction and warning when downloading the full text articles from all the reference databases, as to avoid infringement as well as to follow the research ethics.
